Join CFTA

Become a member of Campus FM Technology Association and connect with a diverse community of professionals using FM technologies to better manage campus facilities.

Our mission is to serve our members and society at large by facilitating the success of our constituents.

WHO WE SERVE

CFTA serves a varied group of FM technology campus members, including professionals using BIM, GIS, document management, space management and new advanced technologies such as drone scanning and more.

We connect peers and establish relationships with a large cross-section of professionals with varying levels of development, support, technical, and managerial responsibilities and experience.

HOW WE CAN HELP YOU

CFTA can help connect you with other campus FM technology professionals in your specific area of work. We have an active Listserv where ideas are exchanged and solutions shared.

You can also connect in person at our annual conference held at or nearby a member Higher Ed campus.

These are events where you have an opportunity to speak one-on-one with business partner experts and experienced campus professionals. Additionally, we have a multitude of helpful conference presentations delivered by campus subject matter experts, available for viewing at your convenience.

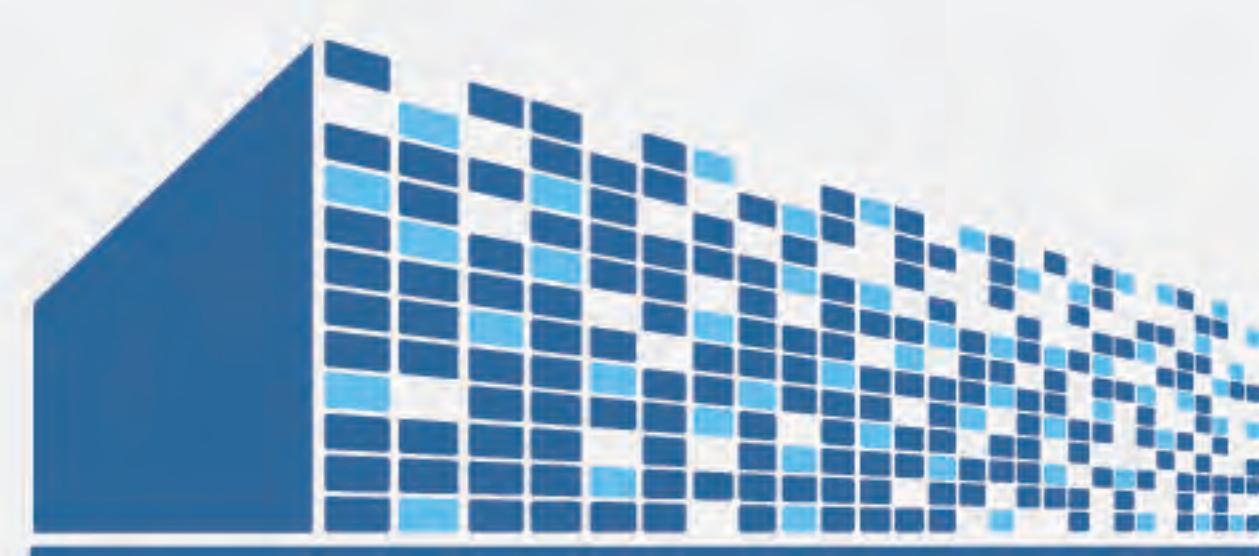

CORE VALUES

CFTA has three core values to guide its plans, decisions and actions:

Sharing & Collaborating - By passionately sharing information and working together, we challenge each other to improve and achieve the highest level of professional excellence.

Connectivity - Invest in relationships that effectively lead to innovative solution designs and strategies, to meet the changing frontiers of campus FM technologies.

Respect - Show respect for campuses of all sizes; respect for different solution strategies; respect for business partners.

Leadership Testimonials

"The inspiration, knowledge and visionary information presented at the annual conferences, laid the foundation and developed a road map for the University of Wisconsin - Madison's BIM initiative. CFTA is my go-to for all facilities related technology."

Amy Zabel Pietz, CFTA Director
 Architect/Engineer Supervisor -
 Facility Planning & Management
 University of Wisconsin – Madison

"CFTA provides a platform for campus facilities managers to learn best practices for using technology to solve institutional challenges. Our members and business partners are always collegial and willing to share their solutions. The presentations are top-notch and always spark new ideas. It remains my first choice for facilities solutions."

Sue Stewart, CFTA President
 Sr IT Mgr – Technology Resources
 The University of Texas at Austin

"The true value of CFTA is the willingness of campus members to SHARE their knowledge and experiences. Couple that with great business partners who are eager to answer questions or help solve a problem -- The synergies are amazing! You can FEEL the ENERGY!!"
